HOARD OF ROMAN SILVER COINS AND JEWELLERY FROM THE VILLAGE OF DVORSKA NEAR KRUPANJ (WESTERN SERBIA)

Abstract: The hoard of Roman coins and jewellery from Dvorska near Krupanj contains 106 denarii, 366 antoniniani, eight pieces of silver jewellery and one silver chain with heart-shaped pendants. It was discovered in 1950 at the earliest, under unknown circumstances, and was purchased for the National Museum in several instances so we cannot exclude the possibility of the find being a partly scattered one. The monetary part of the find covers the period from Septimius Severus (195 AD) to the joint reign of Valerian I and Gallienus (254 AD). It belongs to a well-known horizon of hoards, which were registered in north-eastern Dalmatia, both the Pannonias and in Upper Moesia.

The hoard from Dvorska near Krupanj consists of 106 denarii, 366 antoniniani, eight pieces of jewellery¹ and a triple braided silver chain with heart-shaped pendants.² It was acquired for the National Museum in Belgrade in the period between

1 The monetary part of the find and eight pieces of jewellery were purchased in several instances and from several suppliers: Obren Kikanović (in three instances): a) 130 coins and eight pieces of jewellery; b) 15 denarii and antoniniani; c) 15 denarii and antoniniani; Gvozden Vasiljković (one denarius and one antoninianus); Milorad Kikanović (300 denarii and antoniniani); Stanoje Jelić (ten denarii and antoniniani). The hoard is registered in the general inventory of the Numismatic Department of the National Museum (1341/1-472; 473-480).

2 The silver chain with heart-shaped pendants (Inv. No. 896/II) is registered in the Inventory of the Collection of Roman Material Culture and Art. It was purchased from Milorad Kikanović together with 300 denarii and antoniniani on February 16th, 1953.

January 1951 and February 1953. The exact discovery location is unknown, nor are the circumstances under which it was unearthed.³ The monetary part of the find from Dvorska represents one of the ten known hoards of Roman coins in the territory of Serbia that end with the specimens of Valerian I and Gallienus, issued in 254 AD. According to the Roman division of the provinces, the find from Dvorska originates from the area of north-eastern Dalmatia, while other analogous hoards were discovered in the territory of Moesia Superior, to the south of the Sava and Danube rivers and along the Morava River valley: the Belgrade hoard (Cara Uroša street);⁴ Smederevo;⁵ Vlajića Brdo I from Smederevska Palanka;⁶ Gornje Štiplje near Jagodina;⁷ Supska I near Ćuprija;⁸ Sikirica III near Paraćin;⁹ Jablanica near Kruševac;¹⁰ Parcanе in the broader area of Kruševac;¹¹ Bujkovac near Vranjska Banja;¹² Serbia, unknown site 1.¹³ The closest territorial analogues to the find from Dvorska are the hoards from the territory of Pannonia Inferior: Janja near Bijeljina¹⁴ and three hoards from Oštra Luka (Oštra Luka I, II and III).¹⁵

The village of Dvorska is located in Western Serbia, more precisely in the central part of the Drina River basin, at approximately 16 km to the south-east of Loznica and some 8 km to the north of Krupanj (Map 1). In the north part of the village, at the Gradac or Gradina segment, “remains of walls with Roman coins” were regis-

Besides the hoard from Bujkovac, several other coin hoards are connected with the Vranje region (Gradnja, Samoljica, Spančevac), which are completely dispersed, while some were partly collected (two without the exact discovery location). A large monetary find from the Panadurka archaeological site, in the village of Priboj (out of several tens of thousands of specimens – around 100kg, about 12,000 pieces remain), also belongs to this group. The mentioned hoards belong to the middle or the second half of the 3rd century, cf. Борић-Брешковић и Митровић 2014, 89, nap. 9-13 with older literature.

tered, which were determined as a “Roman fortification” or “watch tower from the Roman period.”¹⁶ In more recent times, these remains were defined as a road station (statio),¹⁷ which, together with similar stations at Vidojevica and Nemić Grad, formed a system of watch towers in the function of protecting the roads along the Drina River and in the Rudnik area.¹⁸ However, the village of Dvorska alone is stated as the place of discovery of the hoard, so it remains unknown, as does its relation with the mentioned architectural remains.

The place of discovery of the hoard¹⁹ is linked with the issues of the uncertain course of the south-eastern border of the Roman province of Pannonia Inferior and Dalmatia,²⁰ and the problem of the ubication of two road stations (Gensis and Ad Drinum) along the communication route Sirmium – Argentaria, which has been debated on by the expert public²¹ for more than a century now.

Without doubt, mining was a significant factor in the economic life of the Roman Empire, and the need for metals led to the progressive exploitation of ores in areas of the Serbian part of the central Drina River basin and around Srebrenica in Bosnia. The significance of the mining area is also reflected in the early transformation of the Drina River basin mines into a Roman mining territory of the imperial domain (Argentaria).²² Research by Slobodan Dušanić has shown that, judging by epigraphic material, this mining region which was shared by the two Roman provinces, Pannonia and Dalmatia, was placed under the management of the centenarius who was based in Domavia and bore the joint title procurator argentariarum Pannonicarum et Delmaticarum.²³ The exterritorial character of mining operations and the various branches of commerce that flourished there aided the growth and increase in the population of the entire area on both sides of the Drina River, as well as the development of the road network. While not venturing here into the debate about the location where the Sirmium – Argentaria route crossed the Drina and which of its banks it went along between 19 Close to several presumed locations of the road station Ad Drinum (the point where the Drinjača runs into the Drina River, near Zvornik, or the area to the north of Zvornik, between the Sipulja River and the slopes of Mount Majejica). Therefore, Dvorska was located in the territory of the district of the silver-bearing mines of Pannonia (argentariae Pannonicae), whose administration vicus, according to Dušanić, was located in the area of the Gensis stop, 30 Roman miles from Sirmium (Dušanić 1977, 66, n. 72; Петровић 2015, 42, n. 86).

20 According to earlier views, the border of Pannonia Inferior towards Dalmatia ran along an undetermined course south of the Sava River, starting from the western border point, somewhere north of Doboј, cf. Alföldi 1965, 27, 30-31; Wilkes 1969, 79, 139, 143. Nowadays, the predominant opinion is that the border of Pannonia had reached further south and ran further south of Doboј and to the north of Domavia, cutting the Drina at the location of its tributary Drinjača near Zvornik, cf. Dušanić 1971, 547, 554; Dušanić 1976, 97 and n. 22-26; Dušanić 1977, 54; Dušanić 1980, 19-22; Васић 1985, 125, n. 8. That the border ran along the course of Drvar – Mrkonjić Grad – Zavidovići – Valjevo – Lapovo, cf. Marić 1964, 186; Bojanovski 1972: 47, n. 63; Петровић 2015, 25. Borić-Brešković and Crnobrnja proposed that the border was a little more to the north: the zone between the point of the River Tamnava running into the Drina (to the north of Loznica) and the confluence of Janja – south slopes of Mount Iverak – course of the Tamnava River via Ub – line of its old confluence into the Kolubara at Stepojevac. After that, the border line between Pannonia Inferior and Moesia Superior should be followed (along the north-south direction) via the lower courses of the rivers Tamnava and Kolubara, to the Kolubara's confluence with the Sava River, cf. Borić-Brešković and Crnobrnja 2015, 69-70.

21 The only source for the road communication Sirmium – Argentaria is the Pointinger plaque: Sirmium XXX Gensis XV Ad Drinum – Argentaria (the sixth and seventh segment of the Map). After conversion, the distance between Sirmium and Gensis would amount to around 44 km, and around 22 km between Gensis and Ad Drinum, or a total of 66 km from Sirmium to Ad Drinum. For opinions about the site Gensis: 1) near the present-day Lešnica, on the right bank of the Drina, cf. the Gensis and Ad Drinum stations,²⁴ it is certain that a developed network of vicinal roads and numerous military, economic and civilian structures and settlements existed in this area of the important mining region.²⁵

Besides the monetary part, the Dvorska hoard also consists of a chain with heart-shaped pendants (Pl. 24, Fig. 1-2) and eight pieces of jewellery: 1) a tubulus, part of a chain; 2) a conical tubulus, part of a chain; 3) the fragment of a bracelet; 4) the fragment of a bracelet; 5-7) three parts of the coil of a bracelet; 8) a piece of semi-circular sheet-metal, part of a chain Fig 1 (Pl. 25, Fig. 1).²⁶ Meantime, the National Museum in Belgrade came into possession of two more pieces of jewellery from the same village, but it was uncertain whether they had also belonged to the same hoard: 1) the fragmented ring-shaped decorative ending of a chain; 2) a fragmented multiple plaited silver chain.²⁷ All the jewellery was published in detail by I. Popović.²⁸

The exceptional example of a triple plaited silver chain with two heart-shaped pendants, which certainly is part of the hoard, is bound by the tubuli that end in circular rosettes – applications with filigree and granulation – on which the heart-shaped pendants are hanging.²⁹ Such pendants on silver chains were part of the local women's attire and were worn around the neck or on the chest, together with anchor-shaped fibulae, testimony of which are the reliefs on several grave monuments from the Drina River area.³⁰ The use of filigree and granulation in decorative solutions, which represents one of the main characteristics of Roman jewellery from the Balkan-Danubian finds of the 2nd and 3rd centuries,³¹ is evidence that the chain with heart-shaped pendants from Dvorska was worn with the anchor-shaped fibulae.

The hoards of silver jewellery are well-known in the territory of the Balkan and Danubian provinces, which, according to I. Popović, represent a symbiosis of autochthonous tradition and the prolonged cultural influences from the Greek cultural circle. The compositions of these hoards are very similar, from which one may conclude that their parts represented the standard repertoire of jewellery in the Balkan and Danubian region. The chain from the Dvorska hoard belongs to the second horizon, which Popović dates to the period from the end of the 2nd to the middle of the 3rd century, on the basis of the coins that some of them contained.³² The fol-

The other two pieces of jewellery: 1) the fragmented ring-shaped decorative ending of a chain; 2) a fragmented chain shaped like a multiple braid (Inv. No. 960/II) were registered in the Inventory of the Collection of Roman Material Culture and Art. The last two pieces of the said items were brought to the National Museum by a student of archaeology at the time, Milan Pindić, who found them while reconnoitring the terrain in Dvorska.

The monetary part of the Dvorska hoard consists of 106 denarii and 366 antoniniani, spanning the period from Septimius Severus (195) to the joint rule of Valerian I and Gallienus (254), with the following composition:

34 The preserved part of the coin hoard from Gornje Štiplje (the Glavica site, Crni Vrh) near Jagodina (Regional Museum Jagodina), dated in 254 (Borić-Brešković and Stamenković 2008, 160, n. 16), was found using a metal detector in 1997. The next year, also, a hoard of bronze and silver jewellery was discovered, using a metal detector on the same site (Glavica), published as „the Juhor find“ (Popović 2002). Attention was already drawn to the error in the toponym: Juhor/Glavica – Crni Vrh/Glavica (Арсенијевић и Лодић 2004, 235; Borić-Brešković and Stamenković 2008, 160, n. 16); however, on this occasion, we would like to indicate a possibility that the dispersed coin hoard and the find of jewellery have to be connected because they originate from the same site and, since they were discovered by unauthorised diggers, one cannot exclude that they were parts of the same find. Since only a part of the coin hoard from Gornje Štiplje reached the Regional Museum Jagodina (around 6%), we have reason to believe that neither did the jewellery find reach the National Museum in Belgrade in its entirety. Naturally, these are assumptions, in view of the circumstances that surrounded the discovery of both finds.

Table 3 – Annual quotients and percentages in the Dvorska hoard³⁶

Coins of 27 rulers and their family members are present in the Dvorska find, spanning the period of 59 years. The highest percentages are those of Gordianus III (24.15%), followed by the coinage of Philip I (15.46%), Trajan Decius (13.56%) and Trebonianus Gallus (13.34%). The issues of Severus Alexander and Elagabalus have similar percentages (7.83% and 5.72%), while the issues of Septimius Sever-

³⁵ The index of the hoard is 8 (472 pieces / 59 years).

³⁶ For the dating of reigns (year/years and months), cf. Kienast 2010.

us have a somewhat lower percentage (4.90%). The most recent issues of Valerian I and Gallienus are present in a large percentage (8.70%) considering that the period was one year and four months long (Table 2, Graph 1). When the annual inflow is observed (Table 3), the highest percentages are once again registered in the same period, albeit in a different order. The exceptionally high annual inflows, considering the brief period of reign, were registered with the issues of Aemilian (27.76), followed by those of Trajan Decius (18.13) and Trebonianus Gallus (14.45), and then Gordianus III (10), while the issues of Philip I have a significantly lower percentage (6.40). The latest issues are represented with a high percentage (15.30) regardless of the short period of inflow.

An analysis shows that the hoarding of the Dvorska find began in the time of Severus Alexander,³⁷ that it was the most intensive in the time of Gordianus III, and that it lasted until the depositing of the hoard, coupled with a constant gradual reduction in intensity. Older specimens that are present in the find in lower percentages probably represent the remaining coins which were in circulation earlier, or of some older savings. We obtain an almost identical picture about the inflow of coins by comparing the composition of all known hoards from the territory of Serbia, deposited in 254 AD (Table 4).

The issues of Septimius Severus and family (Cat. 1-23), distributed in 17 issues of the mint of Rome, from 195 to 209 AD, are among the oldest specimens in the find. One denarius of the Emesa mint (Cat. 11) is also present, as well as a barbarian imitation (Cat. 12), which were minted for Severus. The second eastern mint, the one in Laodicea, is present in the find with two denarii issued for Caracalla between 196 and 201 AD (Cat. 19-20). One denarius belongs to the period of the joint rule of Caracalla and Geta in 211 AD (Cat. 24), while Caracalla's individual issues (Cat. 25-29) are distributed in four issues of the mint of Rome between 214 and 215. The Table 5 presents the synopsis of issues of Septimius Severus and family, and of Caracalla's individual coinage.³⁸

Table 5 – Synopsis of Septimius Severus and Caracalla coins according to the years of mining in the Dvorska hoard

One can observe the absence of Severus' issues from 193-195, 199-200 and 210 AD, and of Caracalla's individual issues after 215. The earliest issues of the mint of Rome for Caracalla are from 201 AD, for Geta from 203, while those of Julia Domna only appear as of 205 AD. Consequently, from the period of Severus' sole reign from 193 to 198, only his own issues are present in the Dvorska find, and that coinage of the family members appears in the period of the joint reign with Caracalla. The rare denarius of Julia Domna of the 19th issue from 205 (Cat. 13)³⁹ belongs to this period. Caracalla's sole reign is marked by the complete absence of issues between 212 and 213, and those from 216 and 217. The first registered antoninianus in the hoard belongs to the rare issues of Caracalla from the mint of Rome from 215 (Cat. 27). Two rare denarii (Cat. 26, 28) also belong to the issues of that year.

The issues of Macrinus are represented in the find with only one undated denarius of the mint of Rome (Cat. 30).

Following are the issues of Elagabalus (27 pieces), within which, besides the specimens minted for the emperor himself (Cat. 31-48), issues for the female family members are also present: Aquilia Severa (Cat. 49), Julia Soemias (Cat. 50-53) and Julia Maesa (Cat. 54-57). All coins of Elagabalus and family were issued by the mint of Rome, except one denarius of Julia Maesa (Cat. 57) that belongs to issues from the mint of Antioch. Three antoniniani minted for the issuer himself (Cat. 37, 41, 43) were also registered. The following Table contains a review of the frequency of issues of Elagabalus and family, according to the year of minting (Table 6).

Table 6 – Frequency of issues of Elagabalus and family, according to the year of minting, in the Dvorska hoard

Coinage of Severus Alexander, Orbiana and Julia Mamaea (37 denarii, Cat. 58-94) are present in somewhat greater numbers, of which two denarii belong to issues from the mint of Antioch and the rest to the mint of Rome. A significant concentration of coins of Alexander Severus is observed in the first two years of his reign (9) and again in 232 (7), while the issues between 233 and 235 are completely absent (Table 7).⁴⁰ M. Vasić reached similar conclusions by analyzing the issues of Alexander Severus in the Mezul II hoard.⁴¹ At the same time, he compared the frequency of issues in the Mezul II hoard with the hoards: Mehovine, the Belgrade hoard (Cara Uroša street), Vlajića Brdo I, Glibovac, Ravna, Skoplje, Źaga, Plevna and Reka Devnia, and obtained almost identical models of the flow of coins into the hoards: a high circulation level in 222 and 223 AD, a large drop in 224, growth in 225 and 226, a significant increase in circulation in 232 and a massive drop from 233 to 235 AD. Moreover, the issues of 235 AD are represented only in the Mezul II, Reka Devnia and Plevna hoards.⁴² The distribution of issues in the Dvorska find conforms to the general monetary trends in the Balkan provinces of that time.

The coinage of Maximinus I in the Dvorska find is represented by nine denarii from the mint of Rome (Cat. 95-103), all of which belong to the issue dated approximately in the period from March 235 to January 236 AD.

Following are the most frequent issues of Gordianus III (114), of which 100 specimens belong to issues from the mint of Rome (Cat. 104-203) and 14 to those from the mint of Antioch (Cat. 204-217). The ratio of specimens from the Rome and Antioch mints is prominently in favour of the mint of Rome, 87.70% against 12.30%. The almost identical ratio of issues of individual mints is found in other hoards from the territory of Serbia: Sikirica III, Donje Crniljevo and Supska I hoards, while the percentage from the mint of Rome is somewhat higher in the Mezul II hoard.⁴³ In the Dvorska find, only the mentioned four antoniniani were registered until Gordianus III, and then, which is common, they prevail among the issues of this ruler (108 antoniniani against seven denarii).⁴⁴ All the denarii belong to rare coinage (Cat. 127, 172-177). A greater number of specimens enables the classification according to issues and officinae (Table 8).⁴⁵

Vasić 2014, 207-243. Data from the hoards published after Vasić's contribution should be added to this list: Sikirica III – 52 antoniniani against three denarii (Војвода и Срнаковић 2015, 31-88); Mezul I – 158 antoniniani against one denarius (Borić-Brešković and Vojvoda 2019, 187-241).

Table 8 – Synopsis of Gordian III issues in the Dvorska hoard

Emissions of issue IV are by far the most numerous, which is expected, since that was the ruler's central issue.⁴⁶ The numerical ratio between the IV and the final V issue is 46 (46%) against 26 (26%) of the total of 100 specimens from the mint of Rome. A very similar ratio between the two last issues was registered in the hoards Donje Crniljevo – issue IV (103 pieces; 42%) against V (62 pieces; 25%) of the total of 245, and Supska I – issue IV (11 pieces; 40%) against V (6 pieces; 21%) of the total of 28 specimens, while a significantly lower presence of issue V is visible in the Sikirica I and Sikirica III hoards: Sikirica I – issue IV (24 pieces; 24%) against V (3 pieces; 5%) of the total of 56; Sikirica III – issue IV (24 pieces; 50%) against V (6 pieces; 12%) of the total of 48.⁴⁷

Issues of Philip I and family in the Dvorska find are represented by 73 antoniniani (Cat. 218-290), of which 54 specimens belong to the ruler (Cat. 218-271), 10 to Otacilia Severa (Cat. 272-281) and 9 to Philip II (Cat. 282-290). There are 65 issues from the mint of Rome and five from that of Antioch, distributed among all family members, while emissions from the mint of Rome are present only in the issues for Philip I (Cat. 268-270). Table 9 – Synopsis of Philip I issues in the Dvorska hoard

It can be seen that a far greater number of emissions belong to the III issue (245-247), while emissions of 248-249 are very poorly represented (7). This phenomenon has been explained by M. Vasić, who pointed out that the lack of emissions from the mint of Rome from 249 AD in the Donje Crniljevo hoard can be explained with the rebellion and usurpation by Pacatianus in Moesia Superior and Pannonia Inferior, which resulted in a slower inflow of money from Rome.⁴⁸

The opinion accepted long ago is that the secondary imperial mint was opened in Viminacium during the reign of Philip I.⁴⁹ The Dvorska hoard contains three antoniniani of the first Viminacium issue (RIC IV/3, No. 51) from 246-247, minted for Philip I (Cat. 268-270).⁵⁰ The frequency of mints among the issues of Philip 48 Vasić 2005, 19; Pacatianus' usurpation can be dated from April 21st, 248, while the usurper's death is dated to around April 249 (Vasić 2012, 9, n. 1, 8).

49 Kondić 1969, 47-65; Vasić 2005, 19; Vasić 2012, 39-41 with literature.

50 Besides in the analogous hoards, with the exception of the Donje Crniljevo hoard, which does not belong to analogues, according to the time of depositing it (tpq. 259 - 260 AD), but is useful here for comparing and dating because it represents a large sample and has separate issues, the following collective finds from Serbia's territory contain specimens of the mint of Viminacium for Philip I (RIC IV/3, p. 74, No. 51) or Philip II (RIC IV/3, p. 97, no. 226): Kremenica (tpq. end of 248 or 249) Rome – 13 / Viminacium – 1 (Janković-Mihaldžić 1987, 89-105; Borić-Brešković and Vojvoda 2016, 22); Čičevac (tpq. end of 251) Rome – 25 / Viminacium – 1 (Рашковић

I in the Dvorska find is the following: Rome 89% – Antioch 6.90% – Viminacium 4.10%. In other hoards where specimens from the mint of Viminacium were registered, the ratio is the most similar in the find from Donje Crniljevo, while the issues of Viminacium are present in a somewhat greater measure than those of Antioch in the Belgrade hoard (Table 10). An almost identical percentage of Viminacium issues to that of Dvorska was registered in the hoard from Smederevo, but the ratio between the Rome and Antioch issues is different to some extent. The Jablanica find is different, with issues of Rome far above, and those of Viminacium and Antioch far below the average, compared with the previously mentioned hoards. The finds Supska I, Vlajića Brdo I and Sikirica III do not contain the Viminacium issues of Philip I, but the percentage ratios of the mints of Rome and Antioch are approximately the same.⁵¹

Following are the issues of Trajan Decius and family (Cat. 291-354), which are represented in our find with 64 antoniniani, 49 of which belong to the mint of Rome (76.60%), 13 of Viminacium (20.30%) and 2 of Antioch (3.10%). Similar frequencies of mints are also registered in the hoard from Donje Crniljevo, while they are somewhat different in the other two analogous hoards that also contain specimens of all three mints (Smederevo and Jablanica), in favour of a somewhat greater inflow from the mint of Rome (Table 11). In two of the hoards that do not contain the Antioch specimens, (Supska I and Sikirica III), a far greater than usual inflow is observed of coins from the mint of Viminacium than that of Rome. In the other two (the Belgrade hoard and Vlajića Brdo I) we registered approximately equal ratios between the two mints, but the inflow from the mint of Rome exceeds 80%.⁵²

Table 11 – Frequency of mints in the issues of Trajan Decius and family in the Dvorska and analogous finds

Besides the issues of the mint of Viminacium for Trajan Decius in person (Cat. 325-326), issues for other members of the imperial family were also registered: Herennia Etruscilla (Cat. 338), Herennius Etruscus (Cat. 341-347), Hostilian (Cat. 352-353), as well as one antoninianus of the consecration issue minted for Severus Alexander (Cat. 327). M. Vasić observed from the example of the Donje Crniljevo hoard that the inflow of coins from the mint of Rome was greater at the end of 249 and start of 250 AD, but then changed in favour of the mint of Viminacium during 250/251.⁵³ This observation cannot be confirmed from the example of the Dvorska hoard (Table 12), which could be the consequence of the fact that the find is incomplete. In Dvorska, the 3rd and 4th issues of Rome (from summer 250 to winter 250/251) are present in the highest number, as are the simultaneous Viminacium emissions of the 2nd issue (from summer to winter 250).

A rare antoninianus of Hostilian as augustus, which belongs to the mint of Antioch (Cat. 355) was found among the issues of Trebonianus Gallus. Besides, the issues of Trebonianus Gallus himself amount to 37 antoniniani (Cat. 356-392), and those of Volusian to 25 (Cat. 393-417), which adds up to a total of 63 antoniniani (Table 13). Among the Viminacium issues minted for Volusian, there are two hybrids of this mint (Cat. 416-417). Both the antoniniani are of the same type and have the obverse legend of the Viminacium mint (IMP C C VIB VOLVSIANVS AVG), while the reverse legend and the representation are from the Trebonianus Gallus antoninianus of the Vimiunacium mint (RIC IV/3, p. 166, no. 72).

The mints of Rome and Viminacium are present in approximately the same percentages (47.6% against 46%), while the mint of Antioch is present in a much lesser volume (6.40%). However, a comparison of the ratio of these three mints in analogous finds does not provide data for conclusions, because of the exceptionally large differences between them (Table 14). The only find preserved in its entirety is the Belgrade hoard (Cara Uroša street) and we could expect the ratio of mints in that example to serve as the correct starting point, especially because a particularly large percentage of Viminacium issues was observed in that hoard, compared with other finds. Unfortunately, although the find was preserved as complete, 365 pieces of the total of 2810 were heavily damaged and stuck on the bottom side of the lid of the lead vessel in which the hoard was discovered,⁵⁴ therefore we cannot exclude the assumption that the unidentified specimens could be those of Trebonianus Gallus and Volusian, which could affect the calculations. Because of this and of the presented results (Table 14), reliable conclusions about the representation of mints during the reign of Trebonianus Gallus are still not possible.

⁵⁴ The hoard was discovered in a lead pot around which traces of intense burning were observed, which caused the lid to be deformed. On the internal side of the lid, bonded and heavily burned coins were found (365) which were impossible to identify, cf. Kondić 1969, 13, n. 2.

While analysing the hoard from Donje Crniljevo, M. Vasić did not deal with this matter, but focused on the calculations of how much each of the three mints had issued for Trebonianus Gallus and for Volusian. He reached the conclusion that Rome minted approximately the same quantities for both co-rulers, while the mints in Viminacium and Antioch minted incomparably more for Gallus.⁵⁵ The example of the Dvorska hoard confirmed the rule about the issues of Viminacium and Antioch, while the Rome issues of Volusian have a slight advantage. After all, this is the case with the Gorsium hoard and with other finds from the Danube provinces.⁵⁶

The short-lived coinage of Aemilian is represented in the Dvorska find with an exceptionally large number of specimens (14 pcs, Cat. 418-431) and has the biggest annual percentage of 27.76 (Table 3).⁵⁷ All 14 specimens belong to group I with the obverse legend IMP AEMILIANVS PIVS FEL AVG, with as many as eight different reverse types. In the hoards from Serbian territory, the obverse of the group II - IMP CAES AEMILIANVS P F AVG appears in the following hoards: Donje Crniljevo (3), Sikirica III (1), Parcani (1) and Jablanica (1).⁵⁸ While analysing the Donje Crniljevo hoard, M. Vasić raised the issue of the frequency of Aemilian's obverse types in the Danube provinces. He concluded that type I was much more frequent than type II and, if one was minted in Viminacium, it could only have been type I. Since he did not find irrefutable evidence about Aemilian's coinage in Viminacium, he left that issue open.⁵⁹

The Dvorska hoard ends with the issues (41) that belong to the period of the joint rule of Valerian I (Cat. 432-457) and Gallienus (Cat. 464-472), including the issues for Mariniana (Cat. 458-463). The majority of these coins belong to the issues from the mint of Viminacium (39) and only one to that of Rome (Cat. 432), while one specimen of Valerian I represents a hybrid of the Antioch and Viminacium mints (Cat. 457). The synopsis of issues from the Dvorska hoard is presented in the following Table (15):

55 Vasić 2005, 34-35, Tables 21-25. Vasić has compared the obtained data with that from the Belgrade hoard, the Gorsium and the hoards from the Danube provinces, published by Fitz.

56 Vasić 2005, 35, Tables 23-24.

57 A similar annual percentage (33.13) was only registered in the analogous hoard of Oštra Luka I (Demo 1982, 356).

59 Vasić 2005, 38-39, n. 68. Vasić cited data about the frequency of types in the hoards by quoting Fitz 1978, 414-417 and Demo 1983, 398-495. We are adding the data from the newly published or omitted hoards: Vlajića Brdo I: group I – 8 pcs (Арсенијевић 1997, 99-100, Cat. 858-865); Kruševac-Jagodina: group I – 2 (Kubitschek 1900, 190, Cat. 347-348); Sikirica III: group I – 1, group II – 1 (Војвода и Срндаковић 77, Cat. 240-241); Parcani: group II – 1 (Рашковић 1995, 205, Cat. 28); Vinkovci: group I – 2, group II – 1 (Vulić and Farac 2014, 90, Cat. 162-164); Niš: group I – 3 (Bendžarević 2013, 121, Cat. 99-101) and corr. Vasić 2005, 39 – Jablanica: type I – 3, type II – 1 (Башић 1968, 81, Cat. 255-258).

Table 15 – Synopsis of Valerian I and Gallienus issues in the Dvorska hoard

It has been found that the biggest number of pieces belong to the first issues: from the mint of Rome (1) and of Viminacium (12) from 253 AD and that they were issued only for Valerian I. Emissions for Gallienus appeared in the 2nd Viminacium issue and those of Mariniana in the 3rd issue of the same mint. Four different types were found among the emissions of the 1st Viminacium issue for Valerian I, all with the same obverse legend IMP P LIC VALERIANO AVG: FIDES MILITVM, Fides standing front, head right (RIC V/1, p. 56, no. 240(c); Cat. 435-441); VICTORIA GERMANICA, Victory standing front, head left (RIC V/1, p. 58, no. 264(c); Cat. 449-451); VIRTVS AVG, Virtus standing left (RIC V/1, 23/266; Cat. 452-453),⁶⁰ and VIRTVS AVGG, Virtus standing left (RIC V/1, p. 58, no. 267(c); Cat. 454). Two types appear as emissions of the 2nd Viminacium issue for Valerian I. The first has the obverse legend IMP VALERIANVS P AVG and the same Fides reverse type like the first issue (RIC V/1, p. 56, no. 241(c); Cat. 442-447). The second type of this issue VIRTVS AVGG, Virtus standing left, appears twice in combination with the legend IMP VALERIANVS P AVG (RIC V/1, p. 58, no. 267(c) var. (obv. legend); Cat. 455-456). Emissions of the 3rd Viminacium issue for Valerian I are present with three specimens and two different types, all with the same obverse legend IMP VALERIANVS P AVG. The first type is represented by two antoniniani with the reverse legend CONCOR LEGG, Concordia seating left (RIC V/1, p. 56, no. 236(c); Cat. 433-434), and the second – by one specimen with the reverse legend TEMPORVM FELICITAS (RIC V/1, p. 57, no. 259(c); Cat. 448).

One hybrid specimen of Valerian (Cat. 457) was registered in the Dvorska hoard. The obverse IMP VALERIANVS P AVG, radiate, draped and cuirassed bust

r., which appears in Viminacium as of the 2nd issue, is connected with the reverse AETERNITATI AVGG, Sol, radiate, standing left, raising right hand and holding globe in left hand.⁶¹ Mattingly attributed the same combination of the obverse and reverse, but with the variant of the emperor's bust without the armour, to the mint of Mediolanum (RIC V/1, p. 56, No. 232). Subsequent researchers have performed the re-attribution of the reverse type AETERNITATI AVGG with the representation of Sol, by classifying it as the 1st issue of the mint of Antioch and dating it in 254 AD.⁶² Bearing these circumstances in mind, Valerian's hybrid specimen could have been minted in 154 AD at the earliest, by merging with the obverse IMP VALERIANVS P AVG, which is also present in the 3rd Viminacium issue.

Consecrative emissions of the 3rd issue for Mariniana are represented by 6 antoniniani of the same type: obv. DIVAE MARINIANAE; rev. CONSECRATIO, Mariniana on peacock, flying right (RIC V/1, p. 64, No. 6; Cat. 458-463).⁶³ In all cases, it is the variant of the type RIC V/1, 6 with the empress on a peacock flying right (Coh. 16).

All specimens of Gallienus in the Dvorska find were minted in the mint of Viminacium (9) and have the same obverse legend IMP GALLIENVS P AVG. Two antoniniani originate from the 2nd issue, dated in 253 AD, both of the same type CONCORDIAE MILITVM, Concordia standing left (RIC V/1, p. 98, No. 379c; Cat. 465-466). The remaining 7 antoniniani belong to emissions of the 3rd issue, distributed into three types: CONCOR MIL, Concordia standing left (RIC V/1, p. 98, No. 377c; Cat. 464); LIBERALITAS AVGG, Liberalitas standing left (RIC V/1, p. 98, No. 385c; Cat. 467) and SALVS AVGG, Salus standing left (RIC V/1, p. 99, No. 397c; Cat. 468-472).

The time of depositing the Dvorska hoard is determined by the most recent antoniniani: three of Valerian I RIC V/1, 236(c) – 2 pcs and RIC V/1, 259(c) – 1 piece; six of Mariniana, RIC V/1, 6; and seven of Gallienus, RIC V/1, 377 (c) – 1 piece, 385 (c) – 1 piece, 397 (c) – 5 pcs. All of them (16) belong to the 3rd issue of the mint of Viminacium, dated in 254 AD and, at the same time, they determine the terminus 61 Cf. Borić-Brešković and Stamenković 2008, 161, n. 22 – Dvorska.

62 For Valerian's hybrid (RIC 232, Mediolanum): rev. Antioch, 1st issue (254 AD), obv. Viminacium 2nd - 5th issue, (253-256 AD), cf. Fitz 1978, 456, 458, 548 n. 161, 815. As for the antoninianus of this reverse type, but with the obv. IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS P F AVG (RIC V/1, 54, no. 211) which Mattingly had classified as one from Moesia (Viminacium), Fitz dated it in 254 AD, mint of Antioch (Fitz 1978, 444-447). In the Donje Crniljevo hoard, M. Vasić attributed this specimen also to the 1st issue of the Antioch mint from 254 AD, following the generally accepted classification and distribution of issues established by Carson 1967, in the publication of the hoard from Hama, cf. Vasić 2005, 51 - Table and 385, Cat. 2378. Göbl attributed the antoninianus with the obverse legend IMP VALERIANVS P AVG and the reverse AETERNITATI AVGG (Sol, radiate, standing left, raising right hand and holding globe in left hand) to the 2b issue of the Viminacium mint from 253/254 (MIR 36, Tabelle 23/799d; Tafel 63/799d). He attributed the issue with the same reverse and two different obverse legends: IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS AVG (MIR 36, Tabelle 46/1568a; Tafel 112/1568a, Issue 2) and IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS P F AVG (MIR 36, Tabelle 46/1577b; Tafel 112/1577b, Issue 3) to the mint in Antioch.

63 J. Fitz dated the type in 254 AD as the 3rd issue of the mint of Viminacium, like the issues of Valerian I CONCOR LEGG, TEMPORVM FELICITAS and Gallienus CONCOR MIL, LIBERALITAS AVGG, SALVS AVGG, which are represented in the Dvorska hoard. At the same time, he concluded that, in the case of Mariniana (RIC 6), the portrait and the legend are the same in the 3rd and 4th issue and that it was not possible to differentiate between them, cf. Fitz 1978, 667-668. For the 4th issue, spring of 254 – the beginning of 256, cf. Idem, 672-673. M. Vasić classifies the Mariniana issues (RIC 6) in the Donje Crniljevo hoard as the 5th issue from 256 (Vasić 2005, 49 – table) and Issue IV from 254-257 (Vasić 2005, 342, Cat. 2037-2042), while R. Göbl determined it as the 2nd issue of the mint of Viminacium, 253-254 (MIR 36, 850b).

post quem of the Dvorska find. We added to this group the hybrid specimen of Valerian, which could have been minted in 254 at the earliest. Although the possibility that part of the find had been dispersed and that a certain number of pieces are missing should not be excluded, most of the analogous hoards end with identical types of the 3rd Viminacium issue, while the consecrative issues for Mariniana and the type (RIC V/1, 397), minted for Gallienus, are prominent because of their particularly large number (Table 16).⁶⁴

Table 16 – Frequency of types of the first, second and third issue from the mint of Viminacium in the Dvorska and analogous finds

The circumstances that led to the depositing of the Dvorska find and other finds from the same horizon of the Balkan and Danubian provinces, are in connection with historical events surrounding the rise to power of Valerian I. After the end of the civil war and his accession to the throne in 253 AD, Valerian I immediately proclaimed Gallienus his co-ruler.⁶⁵ The situation in the Empire, both internally and externally, was very difficult⁶⁶ and Valerian I was forced to immediately launch a campaign to defend the eastern provinces. In December 253, he travelled along the 65 Valerian I was proclaimed emperor by acclamation between June and August 253, in Raetia or Noricum, but the official start of Valerian's reign (adventus to Rome) was in September or early October 253 AD, when Gallienus was also proclaimed augustus and co-ruler (Wickert, RE XIII/1, s.v. Licinius (Valerianus), No. 173, col. 489-490; Alföldi 1967, 347; Alföldi 1971, 169; Lallemand 1972, 17-18; Vasić 2005, 38; Kienast 2010, 214). For the chronology of events of 253, cf. Doyen 1988, 44-45.

66 About the conflict between Valerian I and the Senate, the great financial difficulties, the collapse of the Empire's defence system, frequent usurpations and the secession attempts of individual provinces, numerous barbarian raids, the Persians' attack, etc., cf. Alföldi 1971, 169-193.

Bassianae part of the limes and probably inspected the military encampments along the via militaris, in Singidunum and Viminacium.⁶⁷ The passage of Valerian I, who was mustering troops for the campaign against Sapor, must have caused some internal instability.⁶⁸ These problems would have been compounded by the epidemic of the plague, which began during the reign of Trebonianus Gallus and raged for 15 years, greatly contributing to the weakening of the Empire's defensive capabilities.⁶⁹ The reason one should not exclude as the cause of internal instability was the intense persecution of Christians from the time of Trajan Decius, which continued under Gallus and Valerian, and which only Gallienus halted after Valerian's death.⁷⁰ Besides, it is assumed that the Quadi and the Iazyges raided Pannonia at the start of the reign of Valerian I and, the next year, in 254 AD, the Marcomanni, as well, who reached Italy and Ravenna.⁷¹ At the same time, the Goths attacked Thrace and Macedonia across the Danube, penetrating all the way to Salonica.⁷²

The monetary finds from north-eastern Dalmatia (Dvorska), Pannonia Inferior (Janja, three hoards from Oštra Luka) and from Moesia Superior (the Belgrade hoard, Smederevo, Vlajića Brdo I, Gornje Štiplje, Supska I, Sikirica III, Jablanica, Parcanе, Bujkovac, unknown site 1) contain almost identical issues of coins as the latest specimens (Table 16). Concentrated in mining areas and agricultural, densely populated territories to the south of the Danube River, their abundance is an indication of the exceptional level of risk the area was exposed to.⁷³ M. Mirković believes that the barbarian raid of north-eastern Dalmatia and Moesia Superior in 254 AD should be attributed to the Iazyges.⁷⁴ The reasons that forced the owner of the hoard of coins and jewellery from Dvorska to hide it can be various – one or more of those mentioned above – and they remain in the realm of hypotheses. By all accounts, the large number of analogous hoards in a limited area indicates that a common denominator existed for depositing them.

68 Црнобрња 2019, 245. Crnobrnja has also drawn attention to archaeological evidence indicating that, after the departure of the part of the military with Valerian I, Singidunum might have been the victim of a raid, most probably by the Iazyges, in 254 AD.

CATALOGUE

INTRODUCTORY NOTES

The catalogue is arranged chronologically according to the reigns of the Roman emperors, and in the context of individual emperors, by mints and dates of minting. Each catalogue number includes the obverse and reverse legends and images, and contains the standard basic data, arranged according to the following criteria: the catalogue numbers referring to the individual reigning emperor, and the members of imperial family, living or deified; technical data about the coin (weight, diameter and axis), the citation according to the standard literature together with additional notes on coin, the minting year, and the inventory number (The National Museum in Belgrade collection). The notes contain additional informations on coins and detailed citings of possible aberrations in reference to examples documented in the standard literature. The date of minting of individual coins follows the chronology based on the relevant cited literature: RIC IV/1-3; RIC V/1; Fitz 1978; MIR 36; Hill 2001; Vasić 2005; Vasić 2012; Vasić 2019. All the coins are presented in photographic form, and their numeration on the plates is coordinated with the catalogue numbers.

РЕЗИМЕ

Остава римског новца и накита из села Дворска код Крупња потиче из српског дела средњег Подриња који је као део области са обе стране реке Дрине представљао рударски регион од значаја за економски живот Римског царства.

Остава садржи 106 денара, 366 антонинијана, један троструко уплетени сребрни ланац са срцоликим привесцима и осам делова сребрног накита (тубулус, конични тубулус, два фрагмента наруквице, три дела намотаја наруквице и полукружни лим). Пронађена је најраније 1950. године, али ближе место налаза и околности под којима је откривена нису познати. За Народни музеј у Београду откупљена је у више наврата, те не можемо искључити могућност да је налаз у извесном делу расут.

Монетарни део налаза креће се у распону од Септимија Севера (195) до заједничке владавине Валеријана I и Галијена (254). Представља једну од десет познатих остава римског новца откривених на тлу Србије које се завршавају примерцима ових владара емитованим 254. године. Узимајући у обзир територију Републике Србије у односу на римску поделу провинција, налаз из Дворске потиче са простора североисточне Далмације, док су остале аналогне оставе пронађене на простору Горње Мезије, јужно од Саве и Дунава и дуж Моравске долине. Припада добро познатом хоризонту остава које су регистроване у североисточној Далмацији, обе Паноније и Горњој Мезији.

Кључне речи: Остава новца, денари, антонинијани, накит, Принципат, Валеријан I, Галијен, западна Србија, Дворска, Крупња
